Status and Professional Objective

I am currently PhD researcher at University of Twente (finishing in mid-2017). Some results of my research achieved recognition in the national and international level; for example, I had the opportunity to advise the Dutch National Cyber Security Center and the Japanese Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications, both on the topic of Cyber Security. I presented my work in more than 20 countries. The most frequent words to describe my presentations/lectures by attendees are enthusiastic, entertaining and easy to understand (http://jairsantanna.com/others_judgement). My professional objective is to become an internationally recognized researcher and teacher in Internet security and big data analysis. I aim to transfer my enthusiasm, knowledge, skills and experience into meaningful innovation to improve the security in all types of computer networks, especially the Internet.
